Doctors Say "Drink Beer." Distinguished Physicians Are Leaders of the Opposition to Total Abstinence.

In the United States and throughout the civilized world, the growth of temperance has been rapid and determined. Intelligent opposition to the total abstinence crusade and those who are being recognized as the real temperance workers, however, are those who with a mission who advocate the abstention of mild, healthful beverages, like beer, to take the place of strong liquors.

The most learned and distinguished physicians advocate the moderate, temperate use of stimulants, and they agree that pure beer is best of all. A. Ewald, M. D., one of Europe's most noted medical experts, says: "A moderate use of stimulants, within the limits of prudence, is not only permissible, but necessary, especially if the mental or physical efforts of the individual are extreme." "We might go on and enumerate thousands of similar expressions from men of equally high standing in the medical and scientific world, but space forbids. It should suffice to say that throughout the world the popularity of beer as a healthful, mildly stimulating beverage is increasing rapidly, and with the increased popularity of beer comes greater temperance among the people." According to the greatest physicians and scientists, there is an actual need among all people for such a beverage as beer. The best beer, Pabst Blue Ribbon beer, contains only three per cent of alcohol, and is a most nutritious food element. It is truly a temperate drink. All doctors agree that this small percentage of alcohol is not enough to be intoxicating, is exceedingly beneficial because it stimulates digestive activity and nerve force. The food strength of the beer makes it nourishing to body and mind alike.

Those who appreciate the very finest quality in beer drink Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer, because they know of its superior purity and cleanliness, its superior food element derived from Pabst exclusive eight-day barley malt, and its low percentage of alcohol. Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer, the choicest of all bottled beers, is the beer to keep in your home—the best beer to drink and the most healthful.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER. Had Suffered Severely From Pelvic Catarrh—Cannot Praise Peruna Too Highly—Read Her Letter.

MRS. ANNA N. KAISER, Two Rivers, Wis., was a sufferer from pelvic catarrh to such an extent that she could scarcely do her own work. In describing her symptoms, she wrote: "I have such terrible backaches and pains below my shoulder blades, and down my back and across my hips, and at times pain in the pelvic organs, so that I am not able to lie down or sleep. I also have pains through my left side, and an aching in my feet, and my heart throbs." After taking Peruna and following Dr. Williams' instructions for several weeks, Mrs. Kaiser reported as follows: "I feel much stronger, and do not get nervous as I used to. The pain is entirely gone, except when I work a little hard. The medicine has done me wonderful good. I am taking Peruna and Marshmallow. My bowels are now in good condition."

Reports Her Cure. After continuing the treatment a short time longer, Mrs. Kaiser reports her cure as follows: "I must give you a line to let you know that I am well now, and am glad with your medicine. I wish to thank you for the advice you gave me. The medicine is something wonderful. I cannot praise it enough for the good it has done for me, and I hope many others will be freed from their suffering. I have advised others who are suffering as I did to consult you and many are taking your advice. If you could not do this, I would not have been able to do it. RACE SUICIDE FOILED ON THE BANKS OF THE WATAUGA

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) BRISTOL, TENN., October 27.—President Roosevelt is in receipt of a picture of the model anti-race suicide family, which is in many other respects a model one. It is that shown in the accompanying cut. The family represented in this picture is a product of East Tennessee, and is an ideal representative of the "simple life." The picture is that of J. I. Reese and wife and their family of thirteen children, ten boys and three girls. Mr. Reese is fifty-two years of age and his wife is forty-seven. They were married thirty years ago, when he was twenty-two and she sixteen years of age. In the thirty years of their married life fourteen children have been born to them, but one of the number died. The oldest of the living children is twenty-nine and the youngest five years. This family now resides at Emmet, Sullivan county, Tennessee, ten miles from Bristol, but was reared in the Watauga Valley, near the picturesque spot where ex-Governor Bab Taylor was born, and where the family of thirteen children's father was a constant source of inspiration to the young set in the childhood days of Mr. Reese and the winsome little girl who was destined to become his wife. The Reese family is one of the happiest in all the wide world. The marriage was a happy one, and through all the years that have followed the wedding ceremony this man and his wife have maintained a spirit of good

BOYS IN COURT. Eleven Charged With Throwing Stones at Negro.

Eleven small white boys were before Justice Crutcher in Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of throwing stones at Larry Robinson, a negro, the vendor of lunches in the city. The boys were charged with throwing stones at Robinson, and each of the three was assessed $1. "Don't do it any more," said the One John to the boys as they left the courtroom. And then to Sergeant Talley on his right he remarked, "Boys will be boys." There was a smile in his eye all the while for he has a better friend than Justice Crutcher.

TWO CLERKS DEAD IN THEIR ROOM

The Gas Turned Full On, Probably as the Result of Accident.

BOTH FROM SUNBURY, N. C.

Resting in Natural Sleeping Positions When They Were Found.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., October 27.—Edward Jordan, twenty years old, and Leon L. Whitbee, aged seventeen, both clerks, were found dead in their room today, at the boarding-house of Mrs. W. S. Ayers, No. 104 Charlotte Street, death having resulted from asphyxiation by illuminating gas. An unlighted gas jet in their room was turned on at full force, and both windows to the room were tightly closed. The death of the young men is supposed to have been an accident, as both of them were familiar with the use of gas. Both boys were from Sunbury, N. C. Whitbee had been in the city for more than three weeks. Jordan had been here for six months. Jordan had been employed in the local office of the Home-Seed Industrial Company, of Richmond, and Whitbee, an assistant shipping clerk in the wholesale grocery house of H. B. Goodridge & Company.

The boys retired about 9:30 o'clock, and it is supposed that one of them accidentally turned the gas on after it had been turned off for the night. They were in high spirits before going to the room. Whitbee was not a regular boarder at the house, but was there to spend the night with Jordan, whose regular room-mate was absent for the night. As the boys did not come from the room early in the morning, a servant knocked at the door several times. Finding Mrs. Ayers smell something gas coming from the room, and the door was forced. Those at the door at the time were almost overcome. The bodies were resting in their natural sleeping positions. The mothers of both boys are dead, but their fathers are living in Sunbury. Jordan had a brother living at the Ayers boarding-house.

The Income Tax.

Editor of The Times-Dispatch: Sir,—Having just read your editorial of last Friday on the income tax, a matter that I have thought considerably about, and desiring some light on the subject, I write to make some inquiries. I am sure that you will be glad to state that on every person engaged in any business that exceeds $500 an income tax of one per cent is assessed on every dollar over and above $200. Now, I also state that this applies to net income. Do I understand that, in order to get at the net income, we must deduct the cost of operating any business? If not, how do I get at the net income? I am informed that I am required to pay the income tax on every dollar that I receive during the year over and above the $200, regardless of what my indebtedness is. This seems to me to be a little unjust and unfair to wage earners and to those who are engaged in a business that is not profitable. For instance, I borrow $500, and invest it in land and timber. The same land and timber is sold. The $500 are also taxed. Now, I go ahead and sell $250 worth of that property, and am required to pay an income tax on all of the $250, except $50, and that I am required to pay the income tax on every dollar that I receive during the year over and above the $200. Is it right to require me to pay an income tax on the $200 borrowed, and to pay the same amount to pay an income tax on the $200 amount I have received, and cut the lender of the $200 out of his money to the extent of a full assessment on my notes, and I have paid full tax on the land and timber? I can see where it is a man's business, but I cannot realize that it is just under the above circumstances, for there is a wide difference between

Very respectfully, CHAS. S. BARTON, Barron's Store, Va. Lee and Grant. Editor of The Times-Dispatch: Sir.—The article published in The News Leader, reporting an interview with James H. Johnson, does the members of the General Agent's Association, there is not a lot of truth in the statement that Mr. Davis saved General Grant from being captured and dismissed from the army. My old partner, Colonel E. L. Hines, U. S. A., and chief of staff to General Grant, 1861, afterwards attached to purchasing department, was thoroughly acquainted with all that occurred. Captain Grant was quartermaster. He was unfortunately injured, and had occasional spasms. These had been frequent, and it was rumored, if he did not hold up, he would be court-martialed. Acting under the advice of friends, of whom Colonel Hines was just one, he signed. Had he been court-martialed, he would only have been suspended for a short time, as there were no charges brought which in any way could have been sufficient to deprive him of his rank, captured and dismissed from the army.

What I have written will, I am confident, be endorsed by all of the army officers of that time now living. The post was located on the western part of what is now the State of Kansas. When it was accepted, Captain Grant returned to St. Louis, near which city his father-in-law, Colonel Reid, had given him a piece of ground, bearing timber, and for years he sold fire wood to the people of St. Louis. His woodland was near the crossing of Olive and Pine-tenth Streets, and on the spot where it was generally stood the city of St. Louis has erected a granite building, and on that a bronze statue to his memory.
